Jazz at the Lobero presents
Delfeayo Marsalis and the Uptown Jazz Orchestra
Friday, April 5 at 8 PM

“...one of the best, most imaginative and musical of the trombonists of his generation.” – San Francisco Examiner

Santa Barbara, CA, March 12, 2019 – Jazz at the Lobero is pleased to welcome Delfeayo Marsalis and the Uptown Jazz Orchestra on Friday, April 5 to open the Spring Jazz Series. Delfeayo Marsalis is one of the top trombonists, composers and producers in jazz today. In January 2011, Delfeayo and the Marsalis family (father Ellis and brothers Branford, Wynton and Jason) earned the nation’s highest jazz honor – a National Endowment for the Arts Jazz Masters Award. Marsalis has toured internationally with five renowned bandleaders and has been long involved in work as an educator, including his role as director of The Uptown Jazz Orchestra (UJO). Formed in 2008 to bring the traditional riff and blues sounds to school students in the New Orleans area and anchored by Dirty Dozen Brass Band founder Roger Lewis on baritone sax, UJO sings and swings with confidence and soul... all night long!

Performing blues and standards that combine riff-playing, spontaneous arrangements and the New Orleans second line groove, the Uptown Jazz Orchestra keeps the old school jazz traditions alive. Members of the orchestra range in experience from young students attending New Orleans area universities and the prestigious New Orleans Center for Creative Arts to respected music industry veterans. UJO boasts guest appearances by instrumentalists like Herlin Riley, Davell Crawford, Branford Marsalis and Ellis Marsalis, as well as surprise visits by dancers, singers and grand marshals during any given set.
